PROPOSED HUENEME HARBOR

Why Hueneme?

Hueneme (why-NEE-me) is a native Chumash word that means “resting place” or “half-way place.” This is still meaningful today, as the Port of Hueneme is the only deep water commercial port between Los Angeles and San Francisco and a vital link in the international cargo logistics chain.

Established in 1937, the Port of Hueneme is a self-supporting California Special District that encompasses 275 maritime acres and 294 industrial acres of land, and governed by five publicly elected commissioners.

- The Port of Hueneme's prime global geographic location provides shorter sailing times and quicker access to berths.
- The uncongested Port provides California's Central Coast agriculture industry with weekly ocean services to the global market and consistently ranks among the top 3 U.S. ports for bananas.
- The Port of Hueneme is the West Coast leader for banana imports with over 600,000 tons on over 156 vessels annually.
- Port customers import more than 30 million boxes of bananas annually equaling 3.3 billion bananas, weighing over 1.5 billion pounds, with a market value of $885 million.
